The Storyline

Today, the world is fraught with relentless scrutiny — where the famous often slip through dynamics and public expectations. Shakib Lutaaya's life, career and culture remain a cool mix of all round focused lifestyle, entertainment-driven, and youth pop-culture amongst the youth in Uganda and across the African continent and continues to carve his own path on the scene.

Charming Biography

Shakib Cham, a Sagittarius born Shakib Lutaaya on December 5, 1992, in Kampala, is a multifaceted Ugandan young hustler, boxer, and reality film star whose lifestyle is trendy and followed by the media. He studied at Nakasero primary School and Cambridge College Gayaza. He has lived and works in both Uganda and Guanteng, South Africa.

His journey unfolds like a pracked novel, with a single chapter set in both Uganda and South Africa where he operates his business and family. Kib's rise from street smartness in the head and followed by a diverse passion for the glitzy world of luxury car dealership, reality TV stardom, and hip-hop.

Shakib Cham is a father of one and is happily married to famous socialite and fellow reality TV star Zari Hassan with whom they made their relationship public in 2022. The couple made their relationship official in June 2023 when they tied the knot in a private Islamic ceremony called Nikkah that took the continent by storm.

Reality film star with NETFLIX

SCs debut in “Young, Famous and African” Season 3 on Netflix has opened up his on-screen charisma and culture garnering attention from audiences worldwide.

It all started when the rights to his wedding with Zari were sold to Netflix following their official union in matrimony in South Africa. Shakib joins a reality series crew of famed, affluent other stars as they all work and play, flirt and feud in Johannesburg, South Africa.

However, this move left fans disheartened, as the wedding content remained inaccessible, sparking speculations of a potential hoax. Some conjectured and proved right as the couple scene became the highlight for the Young, Famous and African Netflix TV series starring that previously starred Bonang Matheba, Fantana, Diamond Platnumz, Ini Edo, Khanyi Mbau, Louis Munana, Swanky Jerry and 2Face Idibia.

Therefore, Shakib and bae decided to document the entire exclusive white glamorous affair and sell the rights to a streaming platform Netflix, known for its high-quality content and global reach.

CORPORATE BOXING

Shakib developed love for gyming, wellness, and healthy living during his teenage years. He slowly kept it until he watched Creed the movie and he was inspired to bring the concept to the grassroots.

In 2024, he emerged a champion corporate boxer after partnering with Uganda Corporate Boxing Association and ran a sold-out thrilling corporate bout contest at the NCS Indoor Arena Lugogo in Kampala against JK Kazoora watched by live fully packed and over 3 Million people online across East Africa and beyond. He showcased great footwork as well as defence in the opening two rounds and he carried the same energy till the win.

From his ring walk, the fans screamed their lungs out as they sang aloud for the majestic arrival of Shakib who already has a name among the growing youth in Uganda and East Africa as a whole.

Predictably at the start of the third and final round, JK Kazoora succumbed as he removed his head gear, gloves and gave up to avoid further punishment before the night's referee declared Mr Lutaaya as the runner.

This lived to the very billing as every jab, guard and body movement was cheered aloud by the hundreds of passionate boxing fans across the divide.
